

Peter, Gunars Ceksters and I were very pleased to be at the OEA gala last week and see you win the 2015 OEA Leader of the Year award.

I know the tradition of this award, and the winners over the years have been outstanding leaders in the Energy industry. As Anthony Haines outlined the criteria used to choose the winner, it was quite an impressive set of attributes to be measured against. You are clearly a deserving winner.

Those in the industry recognize a renewed Enersource under your leadership. It's not just about what you are doing in your communities, but also in the broader industry with contributions from Enersource staff being welcomed in a variety of forums.

We also were moved by your comments about blood diseases and your gracious words about Janet Holder. She was quite active in the OEA when she was in Ontario and will be missed for her personable style and leadership.

Your award doesn't only reflect your recent time at Enersource, but we feel your longer term involvement in this industry. We undoubtedly see this continuing well into the future, including your efforts on the Board of the OEN

Congratulations from all your friends at the Ontario Energy Network!

Well done.
